(9) Where the Administrator, in connection with a decision under subsection (5) to refuse approval or grant it subject to condition, does not provide reasons for the decision for any of the reasons specified in subsection (8), the Administrator must issue a certificate to the applicant that states, that—

    (i) if it was granted,
(ii) where the approval was granted subject to conditions, if it was granted unconditionally;

(b) the adverse impact on the military or security interests of the Crown, either on its own or in combination with other considerations, means that the approval should be—

(13) For the purposes of enabling development to be carried out in accordance with planning permission granted under a development order or otherwise for planning purposes, the development order may provide that any legislation, as specified in the order, does not apply or that it applies with modifications as specified in the development order.

(14) The function of the Planning Authority under subsection (4) is a general delegated function.

(b) is published in a manner as may be so specified.

(2) A notice sent or published under subsection (1) may specify a period of time within which representations on the application may be made to the Planning Authority.

(3) In determining any application to which subsection (1) applies, the Planning Authority must take into account any written representations received within any period specified in the notice under subsection (1) for making representations.

(4) After determining an application to which subsection (1) applies, the Planning Authority must—

(a) send notice of its decision on the application to any person notified in accordance with an order made under subsection (1)(a), or

(b) if the notice of the application to which subsection (1) applies has been published under subsection (1)(b), publish its decision in the same manner as notice of the application was published under that provision.

(5) The functions of the Planning Authority under this section are general delegated functions.

Determination of applications for planning permission

25.—(1) Subject to section 30 (referral of applications to Administrator), the Planning Authority may, on an application being made to it for planning permission or approval of a reserved matter—

(a) refuse the application; or

(b) grant planning permission or approval unconditionally or subject to one or more of the conditions listed in subsection (3).

(2) Where, under this Ordinance, planning permission or approval of a reserved matter is granted subject to a condition—

(a) the person carrying out the development authorised by the planning permission must ensure that the condition is complied with; and

(b) any failure, whether in whole or in part, to comply with the condition will have the effect of the development being deemed to have been carried out without planning permission.

(3) Conditions that may be imposed on the grant of planning permission or approval of a reserved matter under this Ordinance are conditions—

(a) imposed for the purposes of protecting the Crown’s military and security interests;

(b) regulating the development or use of any immovable property;

(c) requiring the carrying out of specified works on any immovable property that the Planning Authority considers expedient or necessary for the purposes of the development authorised by the planning permit;

(f) that must be complied with before any development permitted under the planning permit may be commenced; or

(g) that the Administrator prescribes by order made by way of a public instrument.

(4) Where planning permission or approval of a reserved matter is granted subject to a condition that the development must be commenced no later than a specified date and the development is commenced after that date, the development will be deemed to have been carried out without planning permission.

(5) Subject to subsection (7), where subsection (6) applies, the Planning Authority may provide a person (“P”) with one or both of the following—

(a) a preliminary view on a development proposed by P;
(b) information about any existing proposals for making or amending a development plan.

(b) where the Planning Authority considers that a site visit or enquiries are necessary before a preliminary view can be provided, within three months from the date that all of the requirements in subsection (9) are satisfied unless a longer period of time is agreed, in writing, with P.

(8) Subject to subsection (9), any preliminary view provided under subsection (8)(a)—

(a) does not grant planning permission for any development; but

(b) is binding on the Planning Authority to the extent that, in respect of any application for planning permission made by P in the 12 months following the date on which the preliminary view was sent to P, the preliminary view must be observed and followed.

(9) Subsection (8)(b) does not apply or, if it previously applied, ceases to apply,—

(a) if section 30(1) applies to the development, whether or not it would have applied at the time the preliminary view was sent to P; or

(b) to the extent that the preliminary view given under subsection (6)(a) is not consistent with a provision of a development plan even if the provision is included in the development plan after the date on which the preliminary view was sent to P.

(10) Subject to subsection (11), the functions of the Planning Authority under this section are qualified delegated functions.

(11) The Administrator may specify, by order made as a public instrument, that any of the Planning Authority’s functions under this section are general delegated functions in relation to any type of development.

Factors to be taken into account when making decisions in relation to developments

26.—(1) A person making a decision under this Ordinance in relation to a development must have regard to—

(a) the military and security interests of the Crown; and

(b) the provisions of any development plan that is, for the time being, in effect.

(2) The Administrator may grant a planning permit for a development that is inconsistent with the provisions of a development plan but only—

(a) in exceptional cases, where the Administrator is satisfied that there is a significant public interest in granting the planning permission; or

(b) in any other case, as may be prescribed by the Administrator.

(3) Regulations made by the Administrator by way of public instrument may prescribe the manner in which the power under subsection (2) is to be exercised and, in particular, may provide for—

(b) any terms, conditions, limitations and criteria applying to the exercise of the power;
(c) the manner in which applications for planning permission are to be considered;
(d) any compensatory measures required when granting planning permission under subsection (2);

(4) The Administrator must publish any decision made under subsection (2) to grant planning permission in the Gazette.

(5) The Administrator may grant planning permission for any development that has been commenced or completed without planning permission.

(b) to remove the requirement to comply with a condition to which any former temporary planning permission is subject.

(2) Where an application to use the power in subsection (1) is made 3 months or less before the date on which the former temporary planning permission to which that application under this section relates expires, the Planning Authority may not consider the application unless it has first obtained the consent of the Chief Officer to do so.

(3) Nothing in this section permits the Planning Authority to amend or revoke a condition on a planning permit subject to which the Administrator has granted planning permission.

Duration and effect of planning permits

28.—(1) In this section, “period of validity” means the period of time for which a planning permit is valid.

(2) The period of validity—
(a) is either set by the authority granting the planning permission, or is 3 years, and
(b) commences from the date that the applicant is notified in writing that the planning permit has been granted.

(3) In deciding under subsection (2)(a) whether to set a period of validity other than 3 years, and the length of that period, the authority granting the planning permit must take into account the size and nature of the proposed development.

(4) Subject to other provisions in this section, the Planning Authority may extend the period of validity and may do so on one or more occasions and for any period of time that the Planning Authority considers appropriate.

(5) The period of validity may be extended only where the development that is the subject of the planning permit is consistent with the development plan, unless—
(a) the permit-holder makes an application for an extension of the period of validity within the 3-month period prior to the expiry of the period of validity; and
(b) the Planning Authority is satisfied that the development has reached a stage where it would not be reasonable to require the development to be reversed.

(6) Where a permit-holder has applied for an extension of the period of validity and the Planning Authority fails to make a decision on the application within 3 months of receipt of it, the period of validity is deemed to have been extended for a period of one calendar year from the date that the planning permit would have otherwise expired.

(7) Where a development authorised under a planning permit has not commenced or is not likely to commence during the period of validity, the Planning Authority may, in the circumstances specified in subsection (8), extend the period of validity if—

(a) the permit-holder has made an application to the District Lands Office for the boundaries of the building plot or building plots to be demarcated;

(b) the application was made within 6 months from the date of the grant of the planning permit and the application has not been determined by the District Lands Office or withdrawn; and

(c) the delay in the demarcation of the boundaries of the building plot or building plots has been caused by the District Lands Office.

(8) For the purposes of subsection (7), the specified circumstances are where a planning permit—

(i) for the laying out, cutting or construction of a road; or

(ii) the conversion of immovable property into a building plot or its division into two or more building plots; or

(b) contains a condition which requires immovable property to be transferred to the Crown.

(9) Except as provided for in subsection (7), where a development for which a planning permit has been granted has not commenced or is not likely to commence during the period of validity, the Planning Authority may extend the period of validity only where the development has not commenced and is not likely to commence before the expiry of the period of validity due to—

(a) court proceedings relating to the possession of the immovable property on which the development is to be carried out having commenced prior to the expiry of the period of validity; or

(b) an act or omission on the part of the Planning Authority or any other public authority in relation to an application made by a permit-holder about the commencement of the development, subject to such application having been made within 9 months of the grant of the planning permit and the application not having been withdrawn.

(10) The Planning Authority may, when approving the extension of the period of validity of a planning permit—

(a) amend or revoke any of the conditions to which the planning permit is subject; or

(b) impose new conditions but only in relation to any part of the development that has not been completed.

(2) A copy of an entry in the register of a planning decision, which is certified by the Planning Authority as a true copy of the entry, is evidence of the planning decision, including evidence of the type of development for which planning permission has been granted and any conditions attached to it.
(3) The register must be available for inspection by the public during normal office hours and a copy of an entry in the register must be provided to a person, on request.

(4) At the same time as referring an application to the Administrator, the Planning Authority must send written notification to the person making the planning application that it has been referred to the Administrator.
(5) Where an application has been referred to the Administrator under this section, the Administrator may—
(a) refuse the application;
(b) grant the application unconditionally or subject to one or more conditions; or
(c) direct that the Planning Authority may determine the application.
(6) The Administrator is not required to give reasons for the determination of an application under this section to the extent that, in the opinion of the Administrator, doing so may have an adverse impact on the military or security interests of the Crown.
(7) Where the Administrator, in connection with a decision under subsection (5) to refuse an application, or to grant it subject to conditions, does not provide reasons for the decision for the reasons specified in subsection (6), the Administrator must issue a certificate to the applicant that states that—
(a) the approval would have an adverse impact on the military or security interests of the Crown—
   (i) if it was granted, or
   (ii) where the approval was granted subject to conditions, if it was granted unconditionally;
(b) the adverse impact on the military or security interests of the Crown, either on its own or in combination with other considerations, means that the approval should be—

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Ordinance)

1. This explanatory note relates to the Town and Country Planning Ordinance 20xx (the “Ordinance”). It has been prepared by the Office of the Attorney-General and Legal Adviser in order to assist the reader of the Ordinance. It does not form part of the Ordinance and is not intended to be a comprehensive description of the Ordinance. It should be read in conjunction with the Ordinance.

2. The Ordinance seeks to replicate, as far as possible, the Republic of Cyprus’ Town and Country Planning Law 1972 (Law 90/1972 - as amended). Certain provisions in the Republic’s Law, for example those relating to the plan for the island of Cyprus, local development plans, area plans and the delegation of functions to others are not included in the Ordinance as they are not relevant to the Sovereign Base Areas of Akrotiri and Dhekelia (the “SBAs”). Some provisions in the Ordinance, mainly relating to protection of the military and security interests of the Crown have been added to the Ordinance.

3. Many of the functions in the Ordinance have been delegated to officials of the Republic who must exercise the delegated functions in accordance with the Delegation of Functions to the Republic Ordinance 2007. To assist the officials in identifying the correct provision in this Ordinance, some sections are intentionally left blank to ensure that, as far as possible, the numbering of the sections in the Ordinance corresponds with that of the Republic’s Town and Country Planning Law. This has not been possible in all instances.

Parts 1 to 4 of the Ordinance

4. Part 1 of the Ordinance contains introductory provisions including definitions of terms used in the Ordinance. Section 5 states that, except for section 65, the Ordinance does not bind the Crown in any capacity and section 6 makes clear that the Ordinance does not apply to military sites unless the Administrator directs otherwise.

5. Part 2 states that the Planning Authority for the purposes of the Ordinance is the Area Officer for the SBA in which the development is situated. Part 3 is intentionally left blank as the provisions in the corresponding Part 3 of the Republican Law are not relevant to the SBAs.

6. Part 4 relates to the preparation, approval and publication of a development plan for the SBAs. As in the Republic of Cyprus, the development plan is made up of the policy statement for the countryside and rural areas, local plans and area plans. Section 10 sets out the relationship between different components of the development plan.

Part 5 of the Ordinance

7. Part 5 of the Ordinance contains provisions relating to planning permission. Subject to limited exceptions, no person may carry out any development on immovable property unless planning permission for the development has been granted. Subject to a few exceptions, section 21 requires a person who wishes to carry out a development on land in the SBAs to make an application to the Planning Authority for a planning permit.

8. Planning permission may be granted under a development order made under section 22, in which case no application for a planning permit is necessary. A development order can specify that the Planning Authority’s, or Administrator’s, approval is required before development can proceed.

9. Under section 30, certain applications must be referred to the Administrator who may determine such applications or refer them back to the Planning Authority for determination. This includes applications which engage the military or security interests of the Crown. The Administrator’s determination of an application is final, and may be exempted from judicial review where the military or security interests of the Crown are engaged.

10. Part 5 also provides for planning decisions made by the Planning Authority or the Chief Officer to be reviewed by the Administrator. The Administrator’s decision on a review is final, and may be exempted from judicial review where the military or security interests of the Crown are engaged.

11. Supplementary powers for controlling development are found towards the end of Part 5 of the Ordinance and include the power to make orders revoking or amending planning permission in specified circumstances or requiring an existing use of a building or other land to be discontinued (sections 36 and 37). The making of the orders may be exempted from judicial review where the military or security interests of the Crown are engaged.

12. Part 5 also provides for the making of tree protection orders and preservation orders in relation to buildings and areas where a building or area is of a particular social, architectural, historical or other interest or is of interest from a “natural beauty” aspect.

13. Further provisions in Part 5 include the control of advertisements (section 40) and agreements to regulate development or the use of land (section 43).

Parts 6 to 11 of the Ordinance

14. Part 6 contains enforcement provisions, including powers conferred on the Planning Authority to issue enforcement notices (section 45) and to carry out steps in enforcement notice where a person fails to do so within a specified period (section 49).

15. Part 7 relates to the compulsory acquisition of land where this is for planning or residential purposes. This Part applies the Land Acquisition Ordinance (subject to certain modifications) to the compulsory purchase of land under Part 7, including how any compensation payable is calculated.

16. Part 8 deals with compensation that is payable in certain circumstances.

17. Part 9 deals with charges that are payable where, as a result of a development carried out at public expense, there has been an increase in the value of immovable property.

18. Part 10 includes miscellaneous provisions, including a power of entry for the exercise of functions under the Ordinance (section 81), general offence provisions (section 87) and regulation-making powers (section 86). Under section 89 the Administrator can exempt Republican authorities from the provisions of the Ordinance.

19. Part 11 contains provisions relating to repeals, revocations and consequential amendments as well as saving and transitional provisions.
