SCHEDULE

(Regulation 3).

SUMMARY.

1. Every person employed in these premises who receives a salary or wages and who sustains injury owing to an accident arising out of and in the course of his employment and as long as he is insured during such employment shall be entitled to claim a benefit from the Social Insurance Fund under the provisions of the Republican Law, unless—

- (a) the injury has rendered the employed person incapable of work for a period less than four days; or
- (b) the employed person, during the period of his disability receives full salary or wages from his employer. Where the employer contributes part of the salary or wages, the benefit payable to the employed person shall be reduced by such amount so that when added to the salary or wage received by the employed person it will not exceed the full salary or wage drawn by the person sustaining the injury.

2. In order to consider whether benefit shall be granted to an employed person (or in the event of death to his dependants) it is necessary that the accident be notified as soon as possible to the employer and an application submitted on the appropriate form to an Inspector or to the nearest employment exchange in the Republic of Cyprus within ten days from the date on which a claim is made for a benefit or if the accident was fatal within three months from the date of death. Forms of application are obtainable from an Inspector or the nearest employment exchange of the Republic of Cyprus.

3. The notification of the accident shall be oral or in writing (by the employed person or some other person acting on his behalf) to the employer himself or his foreman or any competent person or any other person whom the employer may appoint for this purpose. A notification submitted in writing may be delivered to the employer or sent to him by registered letter or to (state name and address of the other person to whom the notification may be sent). The notification shall be made on the form prescribed by the Chief Officer and shall set out—

- (a) the name
- (b) address and number of identity card of the person sustaining the injury, and
- (c) the date and time of the accident and the names of the witnesses to the accident.

Such forms are obtainable from an Inspector or employment exchange.

4. Every claimant for, and every beneficiary in receipt of, injury benefit or disablement benefit shall comply with every direction given to him by the Chief Officer which requires him either—

- (a) to submit himself to a medical examination by a medical board or any medical officer nominated by the Chief Officer; or
- (b) to submit himself to such medical treatment for the said injury as is considered appropriate in his case by the medical practitioner in charge of the case or by any medical authority to whose examination he has submitted himself in accordance with the provisions of these Rules; or
- (c) to attend any vocational training or industrial rehabilitation course in the Areas or in the Republic of Cyprus which, in the opinion of the Chief Officer or of the Republic of Cyprus, is appropriate.

5. Every claimant and every beneficiary who, in accordance with the foregoing provisions of these Rules, is required to submit himself to a medical examination or to medical treatment shall attend at every such time as may be required.

6. A person entitled to injury benefit or disablement benefit shall also be entitled free of charge to such medical treatment as may be provided by the Government of the Republic of Cyprus, including treatment at or in institutions of the Government of the Republic of Cyprus, and which may be considered necessary in consequence of the relevant injury. Provided that the Fund shall not entertain claims for specialised medical treatment and consultation outside the Government Hospitals or institutions of the Republic of Cyprus unless such treatment and consultation is provided by the employer under a medical treatment scheme, approved by the Chief Officer or the Republic of Cyprus.

7. A person shall be disqualified from receiving injury benefit or disablement pension for any period not exceeding six weeks if—

- (a) after the Chief Officer has required him to submit himself to medical or other treatment, he has without good cause refused or failed to attend for, or to submit himself to, such examination or treatment; or

- (c) he has worked on a day for which he has claimed injury benefit; or
- (d) he has behaved in a manner likely to retard his recovery.

8. Where the injury in respect of which a benefit is payable under the provisions of the Ordinance and the law of the Republic of Cyprus was caused under circumstances creating a legal liability (under another law) in the employer or some other person to pay damages in respect thereof, the employed person may take proceedings against the employer or that other person to recover damages as well as claim benefit under the provisions of the Ordinance and the law of the Republic of Cyprus:

- (b) in any other case, one third of the amount of benefit assessed by the Chief Officer as likely to be paid to the beneficiary in respect of the same injury for a period of five years from the date of the injury or, if the beneficiary reaches the age of sixty-five years before the expiration of such period of five years, for a period beginning from the date of the injury until the completion of his sixty-fifth birthday, any period after the beneficiary reaches the age of sixty-five years being disregarded for the purpose,
